

DRESS CODE

HCS believes that as disciples of Jesus Christ, Christian young people should dress in a way consistent with Biblical principles of decency. In I Timothy 2:9 and I Peter 3:3, we are asked to refrain from extremes which call attention to ourselves. The matter of dress is directly related to the kind of people we are and what we think ourselves to be. As Christians, we ought to be moderate in all things and refrain from offending others. Clothing should be neat, clean, and appropriate for a classroom atmosphere.

Appearance HCS is a place for learning. Consequently, appearances should encourage concentrated study and should in no way distract from the learning process. A student's appearance should also reflect the Christian value of encouraging the focus on the inner self, not the outer. A student should be comfortable but he is expected to meet basic standards. The standards are to be neat and clean, modest (when clothing is not revealing) and moderate, non-distracting and appropriate. If a student or parent has a question of whether a specific garment or style is appropriate, the time to check is before wearing it. Appearance standards apply when students are on campus or at any school activity, unless otherwise specified.

Responsibility A great responsibility rests with the parents to give proper guidance. Parents should not expect the school to do their job for them. Appropriate clothing and appearance decisions are to be handled at home to insure compliance with HCS standards. It is expected that parents and students work together beforehand at home to avoid any dress code conflicts at school. There are many more important educational issues to focus on, therefore personal appearance issues are not debated at HCS.

Each student is held responsible for the appropriateness of his appearance. Instances of deviation from established standards are handled justly on an individual basis. The administration is the final judge of neatness, cleanliness, and modesty, and retains the sole discretion to determine whether a student's appearance is appropriate. Parental support for the natural process of consequential decisions by students is greatly appreciated in the maturation process.

Violation Procedures Homeroom teachers are responsible for spotting and handling dress code violations so dress code issues are addressed in the morning. * A good rule for students and parents to follow is: "If there is doubt, do not wear it."

Offense: Violation of the dress code is corrected as follows:

(for PK-5th grades) - by not allowing a student to attend class until he is in the appropriate attire. A parent is asked to bring clothing to replace what the student is wearing. The student is not allowed to return to class until this infraction is corrected.

(for 6- 12th grades) - by serving a detention at a designated time and place as prescribed by the faculty and administration. Violations are referred to the office and required to correct the violation before returning to class. (Students are given two school days to correct hair issues.)

Homeroom teachers may consult with administration for repetitive violations in order to address the underlying issue appropriately. If it is determined that the student is not going to comply or the family is not in agreement, then a suspension may be used to rectify the situation. A student whose appearance intentionally or continually violates our standards is asked to withdraw.

Revised 6/2017

P.E. DRESS CODE Students must follow ALL requirements to be considered “dressed out” for physical education:

- Gym shorts or sweat/wind pants - Shorts must come to at least fingertip length when arms are hanging at student’s sides. Spandex or tight material is not allowed.
- T-shirt (long or short sleeved) - Shirts may not display any message that could be considered non-Christian. Hoodies/jackets may be worn as long as they follow the above bullet.
- Tennis shoes and socks
- Hats – These are permitted outside ONLY. Students may want to wear a toboggan when the weather gets cooler.
- This would be for MS/HS P.E., as well as days like Jog-a-thon and Field Day for all students.
